India-New Zealand Free Trade Agreement

India-New Zealand FTA comes into effect
The free trade agreement (FTA) between India and New Zealand will come into effect October 20, with the two sides setting a target of doubling bilateral trade in goods and services to NZ$7 billion (approximately ₹35,000 crore) by 2030, requiring a compounded annual growth rate (CAGR) of around 18%. The FTA will provide Indian exporters with 100% duty-free access to the New Zealand market, opening opportunities for MSMEs, women entrepreneurs, farmers and artisans. This is expected to facilitate $20 billion in investments into India in 15 years that would create opportunities across manufacturing, infrastructure, agriculture, and innovation.

Tariff quota notified for New Zealand fruits, honey
India will allow 35,000 tonnes of imported apples from New Zealand at a concessional duty of 25% in 2027 under the free trade agreement (FTA), compared with the prevailing import duty of 50%, the Directorate General of Foreign Trade (DGFT) said Monday. Kiwifruit imports will qualify for zero customs duty under the tariff rate quota (TRQ), subject to a minimum CIF value of $1.80 per kg while 40 tonnes of New Zealand-certified Manuka honey under the quota have been permitted for 2026. The annual limit will increase to 200 tonnes from 2027.

India has huge scope to expand processed food exports to UK after trade pact: TPCI
India's processed food exports to the UK have significant room for growth, as the country accounts for just 0.6 per cent of Britain's $50.68 billion annual imports, with the India-UK trade pact removing tariffs on processed foods, shrimp and instant coffee, industry body TPCI said on Thursday. India and the UK on July 15 implemented a Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA) to boost trade and investment ties.

Bilateral Trade

'For global trade's sake, hope our US deal is inked soon': FM Nirmala Sitharaman
Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman Friday expressed hope that the India-US trade agreement would be concluded at the earliest in the interest of global trade and bilateral economic ties between the two countries. In an interaction with the American think tank Atlantic Council, on the sidelines of the World Bank-IMF annual meetings in Bangkok, Thailand, she also said that China uses non-tariff barriers unhesitatingly and this is the biggest hurdle in the trade between India and China.

India to keep Russian oil imports near current levels after Trump waiver

India is expected to keep importing Russian crude at close to current levels after US President Donald Trump waived sanctions and tariffs mandated by a new law on major buyers of Russian oil, analysts said. Trump issued an executive order late on Friday waiving the "sanctions, restrictions, and duties" under the Lindsey O. Graham Sanctioning Russia and Iran Act, a day before a 30-day deadline for enforcement expired. He signed the law on September 18.

China imposes export controls on tunnel-boring machines sought by India, cites 'national security'

China on Monday said it would introduce export controls on tunnel-boring machines "to better safeguard national security and interests", starting November 18. India has already been facing difficulties in customs clearance and delays in importing TBMs from China for several critical infrastructure projects. The latest announcement comes days after Beijing announced a plan to impose sweeping export controls on 40 cutting-edge technologies, including those for certain advanced solar manufacturing and some AI platforms.

US holiday orders fall 25-30% for Indian garment exporters

Indian ready-made garment (RMG) exporters are facing a 25-30 per cent decline in orders from the US for the Christmas and New Year shopping season, even as improved demand from the UK and Europe offers major relief to the industry. High inflation in the US amid geopolitical uncertainties has made buyers cautious about holiday-season purchases, prompting major customers to reduce orders, according to industry sources. The weakness in the US market has weighed on India's apparel exports in dollar terms during the first half of the current fiscal.

India's petroleum product exports likely to wane during October-December 2026

India's refined petroleum product exports, which have been on record streak during July to September in FY27, are expected to decline from their peak during the October-December quarter. Sources said that India stands to benefit from the global diesel supply crunch, but the extent will depend on domestic consumption, inventory levels, refining margins and crude oil import costs.

Gem, jewellery exporters heave a sigh of relief as the US puts off punitive tax

The gem and jewellery exporters expect fresh orders from the US to revive, with fears of a punitive 100 per cent import duty on India now on the back burner. On September 18, the US Congress enacted the Lindsey O Graham Sanctioning Russia and Iran Act of 2026 (SRIA), which authorised tariffs of up to 100 per cent on goods from the top five buyers of Russian crude oil or natural gas. The tariffs would apply to India and China, the two largest buyers of Russian oil.

Import window for duty-free raw sugar extended till Dec 31

The government has extended by two months, until December 31, the deadline for duty-free imports of 10 lakh tonnes of raw sugar, according to a notification issued by the Directorate General of Foreign Trade (DGFT) on Wednesday. The earlier deadline was October 31. The industry is estimated to have imported only about 3 lakh tonnes of the 10 lakh tonnes allowed under a notification issued on August 20 to ease domestic supply constraints. Imports have remained subdued mainly because government measures to curb domestic prices reduced the incentive to import, industry sources said.

Food importer sues Trump admin over 50% tariffs on Canadian goods

The Trump administration is being sued over the imposition of 50% tariffs on an array of Canadian goods, the latest in a string of cases that broadly accuse the president of trying to achieve his trade agenda by asserting a taxing power that belongs to Congress. The lawsuit, filed on Tuesday, comes amid an ongoing trade war between the US and one of its largest trading partners.

China curbs spur push for local manufacturing
The Centre will soon hold deliberations with stakeholders on measures needed to mitigate the impact of curbs imposed by China on exports of heavy equipment machinery, even as officials ruled out any large-scale slowdown in highway development due to Beijing's measures. The scheme to incentivise domestic manufacturing of this crucial equipment is close to final approvals, they added. China on Monday announced new export controls on key machinery, including tunnel boring machines. "However, there could be issues with the import of high-duty engines that go into this equipment, high mass cranes and tunnel boring equipment which could impact some critical projects, including the Bullet Train project," said an official.
