SAFETY

For Sustainable Manufacturing Growth

Why Safety?

Safety of the workforce must become the primary concern of all organisations, Government and the community at large. It is being recognised globally that good safety and health practices in organisations have a positive impact on productivity and economic and social development of a nation. Also, many organisations recognize that the adoption of best safety practices adds to their bottom line. The Government of India's National Policy on Safety, Health and Environment at workplace firmly believes that without a safe, clean environment as well as healthy working conditions, social justice and economic growth cannot be achieved. A safe and healthy working environment is recognised as a fundamental human right.

FICCI firmly believes that building a preventive safety culture is the need of the hour for Indian Industry. Therefore, Indian industry must benchmark itself with global best practices.

Safety: Global Approach

Globally, countries have adopted different approaches towards safety. In some countries, safety management has evolved from its technical roots to its present day facilitating structure that incorporates all aspects of operations of the organisation. Safety excellence worldwide has been achieved through leadership engagement, safety systems, risk reduction, and performance measurement.

In India, the Government's National Policy on Safety, Health and Environment at work focuses not only to eliminate the incidence of work related injuries, diseases, fatalities, disaster but also on ensuring achievement of a high level of occupational safety, health and environment performance through proactive approaches.
