PPPs in India

Indian Government has identified Public Private Partnership (PPP) as the cornerstone of its policy on infrastructure development and it has become the preferred mode for construction and operation of commercially viable infrastructure projects in sectors such as highways, airports, ports, railways and urban transit systems.

A number of initiatives have been taken by the Indian Government to promote PPPs. In the roads sector, a large number of BOT and Annuity concessions have been awarded for construction and operation of national highways. In the port sector, the areas identified for private participation included leasing of port assets and construction and operation of terminals. The Railways initiated the rail-port connectivity projects through the PPP mode. In the airport sector, four metro airports at Bangalore, Hyderabad, Delhi and Mumbai have been successfully developed and operated by private entities through PPP concessions.

Consequently, the contribution of private sector in total infrastructure investment has increased rapidly and is expected to rise to 36% by end of 11th Plan and around 50% ($500 billion) in the 12th Plan against the 25% achieved in 10th Five Year Plan.
