Introduction

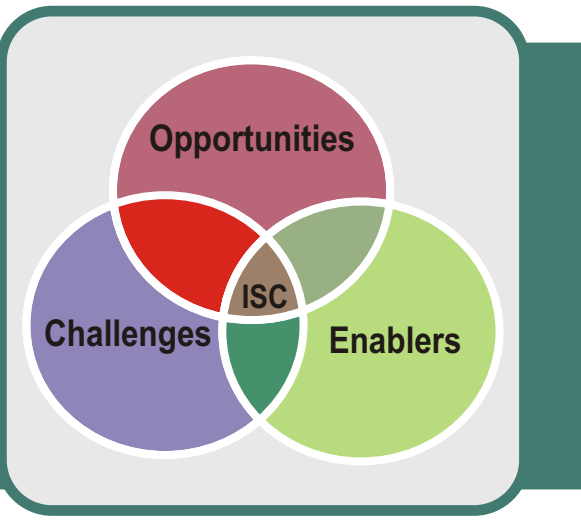

India is increasingly focusing its attention towards adoption and internalization of sustainability into corporate practices. Since the past two years there has been a regulatory push towards integrating sustainability practices with business strategy in order to increase accountability and to make businesses responsible towards their stakeholders.

Indian businesses are increasingly taking up corporate sustainability initiatives as they are realizing that it makes good business sense for them in the long run. Therefore they are focusing on integrating sustainability into their long term approach towards business rather than treating it as a standalone mandate.

FICCI as the voice of Indian business and industry launched its annual flagship event - India Sustainability Conclave in March 2012 in New Delhi. The Conclave acts as a platform for brainstorming on how businesses can find solutions and approaches for companies to start looking at sustainability as an integral concept and to internalize it in their day to day operations. It is not only a platform for knowledge sharing on trends and practices in corporate sustainability, but also a forum for highlighting sustainability opportunities for businesses and addressing the various challenges facing them.

The Conclave focuses on the three aspects of corporate environmental sustainability-

- Challenges that corporates face in addressing sustainability
- Enablers that will help address these challenges
- Opportunities that they can harness by aligning their business goals in a sustainability paradigm

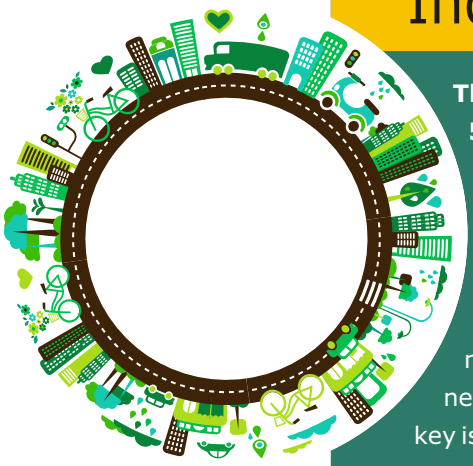

The Conclave aims at addressing three critical questions focused on internalizing sustainability in a corporate matrix:

- WHY must Businesses embrace Sustainability?
- WHAT are Businesses currently doing and what do they need to do to become environmentally sustainable?
- HOW can Businesses implement sustainable practices?

The Conclave brings together diverse stakeholders from the corporate sector, government, multilateral and bilateral organisations, businesses engaged in sustainability services, academia, civil society, consultants, financial institutions and international community on a common platform.

India Sustainability Conclave 2014

The third India Sustainability Conclave is scheduled on February 4-5, 2014 in FICCI, Federation House, Tansen Marg, New Delhi. This year the Conclave will focus on sustainability reporting, supply chains, sustainable financing, relationship between CSR and sustainability, global trends and outlook on corporate sustainability and sustainability as a business excellence mantra. The Conclave promises to make the dialogue more vibrant and the outcomes more recommendatory and meaningful. It will be a topical brainstorming platform with knowledge, networking and capacity building as additional take-aways for addressing key issues around business sustainability.

About Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FICCI)

FICCI, the apex industry organisation in India, is the leader in policy thinking and change and is in the vanguard of nation building. Established in 1927 and with a nationwide membership of over 1500 corporates and over 500 chambers of commerce and business associations, FICCI espouses the shared vision of Indian businesses and speaks directly and indirectly for over 2,50,000 business units. FICCI facilitates business-to-business linkages, promotes trade and investment linkages, creates awareness on key issues for the economy, provides inputs for policymaking, acts as a conduit for government-industry exchange and promotes bilateral ties.

FICCI's Committees and Task Forces on Environment, Climate Change and Renewable Energy serve as platforms for policy deliberations and interface with the government on key policy and regulatory developments.

Corporate Sustainability assumes an important dimension to focus on as FICCI realises the growing interest of Indian companies in building a sustainability paradigm. The FICCI Environment Division works on key areas that have a direct link with corporate sustainability. Conducive policy frameworks are extremely important to facilitate positive action and innovation by industry. FICCI therefore is deeply engaged in mainstreaming Indian Industry's views in environmental policy areas such as waste management (municipal, electronic and hazardous waste management), environmental and forest clearances, biodiversity issues, etc. FICCI's annual flagship platforms like the India International Cleantech Summit bring together stakeholders in all these spaces to exchange ideas and best practices so that collective positive actions can be explored and clean technologies adopted to harness the potential to create a positive impact on environment and society while adding to growth.

FICCI launched the India Sustainability Conclave in 2012 as an annual platform to bring the dialogue on corporate sustainability to the forefront and converge all stakeholders in this space for sharing of best practices and knowledge that will mobilize enhanced engagement in corporate sustainability. FICCI deliberates annually on key issues that help the industry to align their business goals in the sustainability paradigm like supply chain, stakeholder engagement, financing aspect of sustainability, sustainable production and consumption as well as sustainability reporting. These are all done under the aegis of the FICCI Environment Committee.

On climate change and carbon market, FICCI has been creating widespread stakeholder awareness in India familiarizing stakeholders with the core issues and challenges confronting them. FICCI has been playing a crucial role in the policy dialogue on climate change through constant industry feedback for international negotiations in the context of market based mechanisms. FICCI is also a conduit between Indian industry and Government with respect to the domestic policy dialogue on climate change. FICCI has been the voice of Indian business in the international climate change arena and has been promoting Indian business interest in the global carbon market. FICCI has a Climate Change Task Force, which serves as the voice of Indian industry on domestic and international policy and regulatory issues pertaining to climate change and carbon market. FICCI is also an accredited observer organization under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) and the UN Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD).

In the area of renewable energy, the FICCI Solar Energy Task Force was launched in February 2010 to provide a platform for the solar energy sector to deliberate on policy and regulatory issues and advance interests of the sector at domestic and global platforms. In July 2013, FICCI also launched the Wind Energy Task Force and the Bio-Energy Task Force comprising diverse industry members to extend its work in a focused manner in the renewable energy segment.
