Simplifying Cyber Laws

New age technologies, combined with the digital communication system, have revolutionized the business world, and are contributing massively to the socio-economic development of the society. However, these new technologies are bringing new age challenges with them in terms of their misuse and resultant Cybercrimes. These technologies are pathbreaking but need to be secured for the benefit of businesses and consumers. Fortunately, as technology has advanced, so as the ability to seek out cybercrimes before they happen and protect people when they occur. But “awareness” is the key here.

In the same context and further understanding the importance of combat against cybercrime, FICCI is organising a seminar on “New Technologies, Security Challenges, And Legal Framework” on Monday 23rd April 2018, in Mumbai. The prime objective of the seminar is to identify the key areas and solutions for cyber threat landscape in our nation. The seminar is being supported by Cyberjure Legal Consulting.
